Personal FM/ Digital Systems

Hear from a Distance with Ease

FM/Digital systems transmit sound wirelessly and are great for use in classrooms, churches, or any other setting where you are a distance away from the person speaking. The person speaking has a transmitter with microphone that sends the sound signal to a receiver which is worn by the hard of hearing individual. They can then plug headphones, earphones, or a neckloop (for those with t-coil equipped hearing aids) into the receiver and control the volume and tone of the person they are listening to for effortless listening.

Microphone Options

Omni-directional microphones pick up sound from every direction, while directional microphones allow you to focus on a single person's voice, which can be really helpful in noisy environments.

Receivers with Microphones

All FM systems come with receivers that allow you to amplify the sound coming from the transmitter, but some receivers also have the ability to amplify the sounds immediately around you as well. This is a great for when you want to be able to focus on the speaker, but still hear the people who are directly around you.

Range

FM systems typically have a range of 75-100 feet. The range can vary depending on the environment.

Where would I use a Loop System?

Loop systems can be used in many different settings. They can be installed permanently in homes, classrooms, meeting rooms, etc. Portable loop products are also available and are great for use in the car or one-on-one conversations.

How do they work?

An induction loop system consists of a thin wire that is placed around the listening area and connects into an amplifier. When the listener switches their hearing aid to the "T" or Telecoil (t-coil) setting, it picks up the electromagnetic signal from whatever sound source is plugged into the amplifier, and lets them hear the sound directly through their hearing aid(s)! Even those without hearing aids can benefit from a loop system by purchasing a telecoil receiver (see page 69).

How do they work?

These personal amplifiers are designed to help you hear better in small group settings, and can be held in your hand or worn on the body. Place the amplifier between you and the person speaking, throw on a pair of headphones, and adjust the volume and tone to your desired settings.

While slightly bulkier, the larger size of hand-held/body worn personal amplifiers allows them to amplify sound louder than in-ear personal amplifiers (see pages 49-52) and are also less expensive, typically retailing for less than $200.

Pendant

Which events do you want to be notified of?

You will need to purchase one transmitter for each event you would like to be notified of. Each transmitter is designed to alert you for a specific event, however, some transmitters do work for more than one event, such as a door and phone transmitter. For example, if you want to be alerted when your phone rings and when your baby is crying—you would purchase one phone transmitter and one baby cry transmitter.

2 Receivers

Strobe

Lamp Bed Shaker

Pager

Horn/Audible

Watch

How many rooms do you want to be notified in?

For each room you want to be notified in, you will need to purchase a receiver. For example, if you wanted to be alerted in the bedroom, living room, and kitchen, you should purchase 3 receivers. Some brands also have portable watch or pager receivers that you can bring with you wherever you go in your home. Each receiver will work with all of your transmitters, as long as they are the same brand and frequency.

3 Compatibility

To ensure compatibility you must purchase the same brand of signaling components.

4 Technology

Radio Frequency (RF) Technology

This technology sends a signal from your transmitters to your receivers through radio waves. It is ideal for both home use and for people who live in apartments, dorms, or other types of public housing because built-in dip switches can be adjusted to ensure your system will not interfere with a neighboring system. For various reasons, some people find that this technology works more reliably for them than line carrier does.

Line Carrier Technology

This technology sends a signal from your transmitters to your receivers through your home's electrical circuits. There are not any specific advantages to this technology that you need to be aware of, but the brands below have always been very popular with our customers.

The following brands are Radio Frequency:

Emergency Products

How do they work?

The products in this section are specifically designed to alert deaf and hard of hearing people to emergencies such as fire, carbon monoxide, and severe weather. They use low frequency audible alarms, strobe lights and/or bed shakers to make sure you and your family stay safe in the event of an emergency, no matter how severe your hearing loss!

Things to look for when buying:

T3

T3 vs. Continuous Sound: We offer smoke alarms with two different alarm patterns, continuous and Temporal 3 (T3). A continuous smoke alarm's siren continues to play without pauses. A T3 smoke alarm notifies with 3 beeps, a pause and then repeats the pattern. The T3 alarm is offered at most stores and is a more versatile alarm pattern because it can work with the "Listen and Alert" Alarms on the next two pages. It is also the required alarm type in residential homes.

Battery Back-up: Products with this symbol have battery back-up, which can keep you safe even during a power outage. Battery back-up works only for the audible aspect of the alarm unless otherwise specified.

"Listen and Alert" Fire Alarms

Recommended for...

Those who already have existing T3 smoke alarms in their home, but have a hearing loss that may prevent them from waking up at night if the alarms go off.

How they work...

Rather than detecting smoke themselves, these fire alarms are designed to "listen" to your home's existing T3 smoke alarms. If it hears one activate, it will then "alert" you by emitting a high decibel, low frequency audible alarm and by vibrating a bed shaker that is placed under your mattress or pillow.

Lifetone HLAC151TM "Listen and Alert" Fire Alarm

The Lifetone uses a 520Hz square-wave sound pattern proven to be more effective at waking the hard of hearing, seniors, children, and deep sleepers than standard alarms. It is not only a state of the art fire alarm, but also an attractive and easy-to-use alarm clock. When it detects the T3 alarm pattern of a smoke alarm, your Lifetone wakes you up and alerts you with 4 different signals: a loud, low-pitched (520 Hz) T3 alarm; a talking voice giving instruction; a powerful vibrating bed shaker; and FIRE in large text against a flashing orange backlight. The Lifetone helps ensure a life-saving environment for you and the ones you love. Two year limited warranty.

- Utilizes a 520Hz square-wave sound pattern
- Hears your existing T3 smoke detectors
- Alerts you to AC power loss and low or no battery
- Battery back-up (batteries included) lasts 7 days and can operate both the audible alarm and bed shaker
- Includes one water-resistant bed shaker
- Functions as a standard alarm clock as well
- Dimensions: 8.25" W x 3.75" H x 2.5" D
- UL listed

No. HC-LIFETONE2 $165.00

SafeAwake “Listen and Alert” Fire Alarm

The SafeAwake provides essential protection for deaf and hard of hearing people in the event of a fire. Once an existing T3 smoke alarm is activated, the SafeAwake alerts you with its intermittent bed shaker, flashing white light and high-decibel, low frequency (520Hz) alarm—proven to be significantly more effective at waking people with hearing loss when compared to standard alarms. Two year warranty.

- Plugs into any regular 110-volt electrical outlet
- Utilizes a 520Hz square-wave sound pattern
- Hears your existing T3 smoke detectors
- Battery back-up (batteries included) keeps all functions (audible alarm, bed shaker, and flashing light) working during power outages
- Includes one bed shaker
- Meets the requirements of the National Fire Protection Association Code NFPA-72, UL217 and UL1971

AC-Powered Smoke Alarms

Recommended for...

Those on a budget living in studio apartments, dormitories, or other small dwellings.

How they work...

These are simple to use and can be installed in seconds! Simply plug into any wall outlet and mount it on the wall. When smoke reaches the room, you will be alerted by a bright, built-in flashing strobe light.

It's important to note that AC-powered alarms cannot be interconnected like hard-wired alarms, so if you place one in your bedroom and a fire starts in a different room, you may not be alerted immediately. That's why we recommend these alarms only for studio apartments or dormitories, or for those who are planning to purchase one in conjunction with a "listen and alert" alarm (see pages 108-109).

Hard-Wired Smoke Alarms (pages 110-111)

Recommended for...

Those who live in homes with multiple floors and rooms and want to ensure they are alerted as early as possible to a fire, no matter which room it starts in.

How they work...

Multiple units are placed around the home and interconnected, so that when any one detector senses smoke, all alarms in the home go off simultaneously. This significantly increases the chances that you will get out safely before a fire spreads. The more rooms and floors your home has, the more important it becomes to have a complete hard-wired system.

For additional protection while you sleep, consider adding a "listen and alert" fire alarm (pages 108-109) to your hard-wired T3 system, as audible alarms and strobe lights may not be enough to wake you.

Please note that hard-wired alarms must be installed by a licensed electrician.

Gentex Smoke Alarms (Hard-Wired)

Weather Alert Systems

People with hearing loss are especially at risk when severe weather strikes because it is difficult—and for many impossible—to hear the warning sirens go off in the distance. Fortunately, the systems below can alert you to a weather emergency through a loud audible alarm, vibration, flashing lights, or any combination of these methods. They can also be expanded to alert you to other events in your home through the purchase of additional accessories, such as the doorbell or phone ringing.

Weather Alert Radio with Strobe Light and Bed Shaker

This weather alert system warns you of hazardous conditions, giving you 24-hour, up-to-the-minute weather information, notifying you by light and vibration as well as a loud audible alarm on the Midland WR100 Radio. The WR100 Radio receives signals from NOAA, and when severe weather is about to strike it will alert you of the severity by illuminating one of three colored lights and displaying the specific warning (such as “TORNADO”). Program your specific state or county so you only get the warnings you need. The included battery backup powers the weather alert radio in case of power outage. This system will not transmit to additional receivers. 1 year warranty on radio / 5 years on Silent Call equipment. No. SC-WAKIT1 $164.99

The Best Personal Sound Amplifier On The Market

Available in beige and grey, FocusEar improves hearing for 85% of hearing challenges using three pre-programmed choices:

Noisy • Quiet • Telephone (T-Coil Engineered)

"I've been struggling with tinnitus and hearing loss for a few years and decided to do something about it. I am amazed at the improvement, not only in hearing, but the decreased ringing (in my ears)."

Kaye is a 71-year old Michigan resident and a FocusEar user since May, 2014.

Try it - love it
- or return it
no questions asked!

Two simple no-look switches are easily used while wearing in order to adjust to your varying situations on the go. FocusEar is also the most comfortable PSAP, fitting gently behind the ear and precisely at the ear canal, it can be worn continuously without irritations common with other PSAP's and hearing aids. TV Listening Systems

Enjoy Watching TV Together Again!

How do they work?

TV listening systems allow you to listen to the TV at a volume that's comfortable without disturbing anyone else in the room! They consist of two main parts—a transmitter and a receiver. The transmitter connects to your TV and transmits wirelessly to the receiver worn by the listener.

Technology Choices

- RF Radio Frequency (RF) systems transmit sound through radio waves and have a range of 100-300+ feet. The main benefit to these systems is that their signal can travel through walls and ceilings, so you can hear the TV no matter what room you're in!
- IR Infrared (IR) systems transmit sound through infrared light. These systems tend to be less expensive than RF systems, but have a limited range since their signal cannot travel through walls.
- LP Loop systems allow those with telecoil equipped hearing aids to enjoy watching TV through the comfort of their own hearing aid(s), without needing to wear a separate receiver!
- Bluetooth Bluetooth® systems have a range of up to 30 ft, and can be used for cell phone calls as well as listening to the TV.

Unisar DH900

The DH900 is one of our best values! It has great sound quality that can be adjusted to your needs without disturbing those around you. If someone has a question or wants to talk, simply press the mute button. It will turn off the sound and turn on a built-in microphone to amplify conversations around you.

Do you find yourself having to go check the oven or go get something from another room right in the middle of a TV program? You end up missing that important part of the show. The DH900 frees you to move around your house and still catch the latest score or singing sensation without being glued to the TV screen. One year warranty.

- 4 tone settings

Home Loop Systems for TV Listening

Home Loop Systems, like the ones listed below, allow those with telecoil equipped hearing aids to enjoy watching TV through the comfort of their hearing aid(s), without needing to wear or purchase any additional equipment! Instead, your hearing aid becomes your own personal receiver.

Here's how it works:

1. Plug the loop amplifier into the audio output jacks on the back of your TV or other audio source.
2. Install the loop wire around your desired listening area and connect it to the loop amplifier.
3. Turn the loop amplifier on, switch your hearing aid(s) to "telecoil" mode, and then sit back and relax. As long as you are sitting within the looped area, you will now be able to listen to your TV directly through your hearing aids! No additional equipment necessary.

Telephone Products

Why get an amplified phone?

For people with hearing loss, traditional phones can make voices sound muffled and words more difficult to understand. Amplified phones come with amplification and tone control, which allows you to turn the volume up much higher than you can on a traditional phone, as well as adjust the frequency of the other caller's voice to better fit your hearing. All of the phones in this section are hearing aid compatible, so you shouldn't experience any feedback or interference that can be caused by hearing aids.

Things to look for when buying:

The most important step in choosing an amplified phone is determining how much amplification you need, and this will depend on the degree of your hearing loss. To help guide you through this process, we've developed a color scale that shows you the amplification level of each phone, and whether that phone is recommended for your hearing loss.

Mild (30dB)

Are you missing words or straining to hear the conversation but still manage to get through it?

Moderate (30-45dB)

Do you find yourself constantly asking the speaker to repeat themselves?

Severe (50dB +)

Have you decided to stop using the phone altogether because it is too difficult to hear?

Please note that hearing loss can be degenerative. It may be good to get a phone with higher amplification as you can always turn the volume down.

Emergency Response Systems

Protect Yourself & Your Loved Ones!

How do they work?

Emergency Response Systems offer independence and peace of mind for aging parents and their loved ones. They come with a wireless pendant that is worn around the neck or wrist. In the event there is an emergency and you are unable to reach the phone, simply activate the pendant and it will connect you to friends, family, or emergency personnel for assistance. And the best part? No monthly fees!

Your Options Explained:

Amplified Emergency Phones: These are great for those who want to combine the every day benefits of an amplified phone with the security of an emergency response system. In the event of an emergency, simply activate the included wireless pendant and your phone will begin dialing through a list of preprogrammed numbers until someone picks up. The other caller will then listen to a short pre-programmed message informing them of an emergency, and then they will be able to begin a two-way conversation with you.

Personal Emergency Response Devices: These products are designed for emergency purposes and some cannot be used for regular phone calls. The greatest benefit to these systems is the ability to communicate directly through the pendant itself, rather than relying on your phone's speakerphone for communication.

Cell Phone Accessories

Many mainstream cell phones and cell phone accessories simply aren't loud enough or clear enough for people with hearing loss. And if you wear hearing aids, you know just how frustrating it can be to try and make phone calls in a noisy environment, because your hearing aids are amplifying the noise around you. We carry a variety of cell phone accessories that work with virtually all cell phones and will help make your conversations enjoyable again.

Cell Phone Signalers

If you have difficulty hearing when you get a call or text message, we carry a variety of cell phone signalers that will alert you to your calls and messages by flashing a light or amplifying the sound.

Neckloops and Silhouettes

These are specifically designed for people who have telecoil-equipped hearing aids. They work by generating an electromagnetic signal that allows you to hear the conversation directly through your hearing aids, while cutting out the background noise around you. Both neckloops and silhouettes tend to work well for most people, but if you have an "automatic" telecoil you may find that silhouettes work better for you.

Bluetooth®

If you have a Bluetooth®-enabled cell phone, make sure to look for this handy Bluetooth® icon. Accessories with this icon can connect to your cell phone wirelessly!

In-Ear/PSAP Personal Amplifiers

A Discreet Way to Hear Better!

How do they work?

In-Ear Personal Amplifiers, or Personal Sound Amplification Products (PSAPs) provide an affordable, discreet way to help you hear better in a variety of situations. Worn in or behind the ear, they will pick up the sounds around you, filter out the background noise, and amplify speech for a more effortless listening experience.

These will amplify sound anywhere from 15dB-30dB, making them a great solution for anybody needing a little extra boost in difficult hearing situations. For those needing more amplification, consider checking out our hand-held/body worn amplifiers on pages 53-57.

Please note that PSAPs are not hearing aids. We recommend seeing a hearing health professional before buying a PSAP, as they can help evaluate your hearing and talk about all your options. PSAPs can help you hear better in a variety of situations, but are not FDA-approved medical devices and cannot be programmed to fit your specific hearing loss. They are, however, far less expensive and can be purchased without the need for a professional exam.

Quiet Sound Amplifier®

*Make your world one click louder.

Hearing wellness is vital to quality of life. The audiologists and engineers at Etymotic Research believe that everyone deserves access to affordable personal sound amplifiers. Consumer groups and prominent otologists agree.

For millions of people, life would be so much easier just one click louder. Many of the high-tech devices that were once only available from trained professionals are now available where people shop for assistive technologies.

Wearable technology can tell us how many steps we take, track our health and fitness, and monitor blood pressure and blood sugar levels. Reading glasses help millions of people read fine print or a menu in a restaurant, or do close work like needlepoint.

Hundreds of audio products have volume controls to make sound louder. Music players and apps on smartphones allow us to adjust the level of sound in the world around us.

A high-quality personal sound amplifier can have similar performance to a hearing aid. That's good news for consumers. Personal sound amplifiers help people hear the soft sounds of a conversation, sermon, play, or TV dialog.

The BEAN Quiet Sound Amplifier

is based on Etymotic's original K-AMP® circuitry that automatically amplifies only the soft sounds of speech, with just the right amount of high-frequency emphasis for improved speech clarity. Sound quality is natural. The circuitry can reproduce high-level sound without distortion, making it ideally suited for musicians.

The T-Coil BEAN can be used with loop systems in theatres, public buildings or worship services.

Technology has made great strides. Stay in the game. Be part of the action.

Sometimes the best solution is the simplest solution.

Alarm Clocks

How do they work?

Standard alarm clocks are not very effective at waking people with hearing loss, especially those who are severely hard of hearing or deaf. The alarm clocks we carry are designed with a combination of special features, such as extra loud alarms, bed shakers, and lamp flashers that are guaranteed to wake you up!

Wake-Up Options:

Extra Loud Audible Alarm: Almost all of our alarm clocks can wake you up with an extra loud audible alarm with adjustable volume and tone control.

Bed Shaker: Most of our alarm clocks also come with bed shakers, which are placed under your mattress or pillow. When the alarm is activated, the bed shaker will vibrate to wake you up!

Lamp Flasher: This feature allows you to plug a lamp into your clock. When the alarm is activated the lamp will flash on and off. If you are looking for a clock with this feature, just look for our handy lamp icon!

Start your day off on time with a loud, vibrating or flashing alarm clock!

Helpful Hints

Besides being uncomfortable to sleep in, leaving your hearing aids in at night can cause annoying feedback, drain your batteries faster, and give bacteria a chance to grow in your ear(s) which can lead to infections. Instead, put your hearing aids in a hearing aid dryer at night (see pages 45-46) and use one of our specialized alarm clocks to wake you up in the morning. You'll get better sleep AND prolong the life of your hearing aids!
